A PLACE TO BE

COMMUNITY KITCHEN

"Good things happen around the gathering of food."

A community kitchen would provide a way to bring people together. It could function as others do where one night a week one cooks and receives food the other nights or it could be for events. One thing is for sure, "good things happen around the gathering of food."

MAKING SPACE/DISPALY

To link the past and the present with exhibition space.

Having display space where local as artists could have a space to showcase their work would greater show off the amazing talent of the community. It would also provide an opportunity to do exhibitions on community leaders etc.

Above

The second part of the program would be teaching community members how to do these various activities. There would be lessons in farming, cooking and even business/restaurant management so that those who want to open a food cart or restaurant are as prepared as possible. These programs could be facilitated by the revenue generated at the Saturday markets that would be held which would sell the remaining food, both cooked and raw. Located on the east side of the upper floor would be an office with its own rooftop oasis.

Ground

This food based center has you enter right into a large kitchen. This give you the feeling of walking into the back door at a family members house. There would be a place to naturally break off to store coats etc and there would be a breeze way by the actual cook space but this would force interaction with the people cooking for everyone. The vertical gardens are located to the west of the kitchen and there would be a great room with eating space to the east. The shape of the building would allow maximum light exposure to the garden while providing natural ventilation.
